Re Item III

Non-establishment of opinion with regard to novelty, inventive step and industrial applicability Claim 4 relates to subject-matter considered by this Authority to be covered by the provisions of Rule 67.1(iv) PCT. Consequently, no opinion will be formulated with respect to the industrial applicability of the subject-matter of these claims (Article 34(4)(a)(I) PCT).

Re Item V

Reasoned statement with regard to novelty, inventive step or industrial applicability; citations and explanations supporting such statement

- 1. The following documents are relevant:
 - D1: EP-A-0 614 887 (ELI LILLY) 14 September 1994 (1994-09-14)
 - D2: WO 02/098848 A (ELI LILLY) 12 December 2002 (2002-12-12)
- The compounds which are the object of the present application differ from those 2. described in D1 at least by the absence of a nitrogen atom immediately connected to the phenyl ring.
 - For information only, they differ from those disclosed in D2 by the nature of the cyclic substituent on the sulfur atom of the sulfonamide function (heterocyclic instead of phenyl in D2). Novelty can thus be acknowledged.
- 3. Document D1, which is considered to represent the most relevant state of the art, discloses sulfonamide derivatives having antitumor properties from which the compounds of the present invention differ in the nature of the linking chain between the two ring systems.

The problem to be solved by the present invention may therefore be regarded as the provision of further antitumor sulfonamide derivatives.

it is considered that it would not have been obvious for the man skilled in the art that such modified sulfonamide derivatives would retain their antitumor properties. An inventive step can thus be acknowledged.

4. The industrial applicability of claims 1-3 and 5 of the present application is acknowledged (Art. 33(4) PCT).

EXAMINATION REPORT - SEPARATE SHEET

4.1 For the assessment of the present claim 4 on the question whether it is industrially applicable, no unified criteria exist in the PCT Contracting States. The patentability can also be dependent upon the formulation of the claims. The EPO, for example, does not recognize as industrially applicable the subject-matter of claims to the use of a compound in medical treatment, but may allow, however, claims to a known compound for first use in medical treatment and the use of such a compound for the manufacture of a medicament for a new medical treatment.
